WALL DRAWING #123A

The first drafter draws a not straight vertical line as long as possible. The second drafter draws a line next to the first one, trying to copy it. The third drafter does the same, as do as many drafters as possible. Then the first drafter followed by the others, copies the last line drawn until both ends of the wall are reached.

White crayon on black wall, First Drawn by: Unknown First Installation: Addison Gallery, Phillips Academy, Andover, MA March 1991
